Range Safety Officer Position Description and Benefits

Title: Range Safety Officer

Supervisor: Chief Range Safety Officer/Rangemaster

Position Summary:
The Volunteer Range Safety Officer (RSO) is the single most important element of the Summit Public Shooting Range. The quality of each shooting guest experience at the range depends on the quality range safety, knowledge of range operations and ability of the RSO to assist the visitor as needed. The RSO is required to greet every guest as they arrive, present a brief range orientation brief and review the NRA Gun Safety Rules and Summit Range specific rules. In addition the RSO on duty will conduct inventory of all range equipment on arrival and departure each day. General range maintenance duties such as trash cleanup, target/ear protection resupply is expected.

Requirements:
- Adult, 18 or older
- Complete the NRA Range Safety Officer Course either on-line or in conventional class
- Fully understand the NRA Gun Safety Rules
- Possess and maintain a basic knowledge of firearms: pistol, rifle and shotgun
- Attend 3 hour orientation with the Range Master
- It is strongly advised that all RSO personnel maintain, at a minimum, a current American Red Cross “First Aid/CPR/AED (Adult)” certification
- Represent and support the Mission of the SRA professionally and responsibly

Time Commitment:
Volunteer RSO are expected to volunteer a minimum of 8 hours duty each month. This time can be completed on different days and scheduled on the Summitrange.org web site.

Benefits:
- Introduce new shooters into the sport of shooting
- Share your enthusiasm for safety and shooting with others
- Receive training and coaching from Certified NRA instructors currently on the SRA staff
- Opportunity to become Certified NRA Instructors at minimum cost
- Key to the range and facilities
- Performance incentives as determined by the SRA Board of Directors
- Designated parking space at facility
- Opportunity to purchase many firearms at dealer’s cost.
- Supplemental liability insurance coverage while volunteering